

My Dear Mary
Now with standing my poor eyes & your poor house, if we are not to see each other directly, we must try for a little correspondence.
We were all extremely sorry not to see you at Richmond but hope it is only a pleasure deferred. My sister & I intend going to Paris late, but as our plans connect themselves somewhat with Madame Lauzel's we do not exactly know when, but I cannot fail to see you as I shall remain in Europe till

Charles Sumner
your Obedt. & affectionate son
Wm. L. Garrison
& charming young widow.
who spent often & the few hours of her life by her friends mourning her.

1866

next summer. My dear Mother's health has been for a long time, & is now, to perpet, that as my own was very delicate, I felt emboldened to leave home for a year, particularly as I felt anxious that as Emma was doing so well, she should not return to one of our dreadfully severe winters.
The winter above last Autumn however we were very afraid, she had suffered so much the winter previous, the a milder climate has put her all right & I felt anxious that she should be quite fortified by another winter.

As for myself, I am never very strong, & the state of my eyes & the ill rep it enforced, was a little on my general health. One of my brothers has been some thing of an invalid this summer too, & that had fatigued me, but he is now better & I left all at Weymouth
in a very flourishing state Caroline much absorbed in garden ing & I am attending to her parish wife duties, for as she is the only one who has remained constantly at home all the thousand state duties of a county neighbor hood devolve upon her. Visits,

Shanties, takes, road mending sewing meetings, Free Meli-
Aid Societies, all are in her hands & keep her very busy.

Mrs Chapman divides her time between New York & Be-ford (her son's summer residence) Weymouth & Chauncy Street.
I think she will be at the Latter place a good deal this winter as her sister in law is very lonely in the old ancestral house without her.

My brother Warren has been traveling in Europe all summer with his daughter Rosamond who is now a nice girl of 18 & a great comfort to us.
She was in a state of

5. Humberg, Illinois

Wednesday, March 27th

dear friend your letter appeared in the
 A. W. L.
 the present is common & believe charm delight during all he visit to Scotland. All young Americans have so many associations with Scotch poetry & novels that a visit to Scotland is a perfect pilgrim age. I trust that they (w & his party) reached America yesterday.

But I must give a little space to public affairs in my own land. Through the President is making so scandalous an exhibition & tho' the prospect may look dark to foreign observers, I assure you all is going on quite as well as any reasonable person could have expected.

Had Lincoln lived there would have been much less individual suffering. The poor North would have fared better & the reconstruction of the country would have been much sooner accomplished. But the ultimate national results will prove the same. The present Constitutional amendment, the one now under consideration will be adopted, & some or later negro suffrage will come.
Here I differ with some good people. The question of negro suffrage is attended with some difficulties & perplexities, constitutional and otherwise, & I should not make its adoption a sine qua non of the Republican party. As a party the Abolitionists no longer exist. For all practical purposes they are merged, as they should be with the great mass of their fellow citizens. I have been very sorry that Wendell Phillips has pursued the course he has, but it is purely on his own account, & perhaps I must confess that all my regrets do not spring from the highest motives.

I will confess that when I saw the time arrive, when he might naturally & properly enter on a course of political action, such as his talents & positive moral natural, I was sorry to see him throw away all his prospects, upon an entire want of clearness of judgment & an inability to understand the situation.

Perhaps it was as much as a
could be expected that one man, even Garrison be found quite equal to the occasion.

I don't believe in any interference ment of the President in any thing of that sort. Probably Mr. Wilson will be along for the next 2 years, & then they'll step into the presidency.

I am a good deal shocked at finding such a party here in favour of Gov. Eyre. It does certainly seem as if this agricultural war was to be a perfect test, affecting every nation & individuals. I do not, of course with Eyre ranged, the speaking popular, he deserves it, but I do think he should be tried for Gordon's murder.

Were the Society Science Meeting interested in - & what subject most so? Pray write to me if you have permits - at least let me know you do. Dear & for the present to Mr. Wilson & others. Mr. Wilson 1866

 Charles Sumner
 going to be married the hope is to be a charming
 young
 widow.
 who spent off in the pro slavery news of marriage mine.

My Dear Mary
 & Notwithstanding my poor eyes & your poor house, if
 we are not to see each other
 directly, we must try for
 a little correspondence.
 We were all extremely sorry
 not to see you at Richmond
 but hope it is only a pleasure
 deferred. My sister & I intend
 going to Paris late, but as
 our plans connect themselves
 somewhat with Madame Langel's we do not exactly know when, but I cannot
 fail to see you as I shall
 remain in Europe till

All your old friends Garrison
 Mary's &

next summer. My dear
Mother's health has been for
a long time, & is now, to
perpet, that as my own
was very delicate, I felt
emboldened to leave home
for a year, particularly as
I felt anxious that as Emma
was doing so well, she should
not return to one of our
dreadfully severe winters.
She came abroad last autumn because we were really
afraid, she had suffered so much the winter previous, that a milder climate had put her
all right & I felt anxious
that she should be quite fortified by another winter.

Dear friend
you per appehave
A. L. L.

known delight during our revisit to Scotland. All young Americans have so many
associations with Scotch poetry & novels that a visit to Scotland is a perfect pilgrim-
age. I trust that they (w & his party) reached America
yesterday.

But I must give a
little space to public affairs
in my own land. Through the President is making so
scandalous an exhibition & tho'
the prospect may look dark
to foreign observers, I assure
you all is going on quite
as well as any reasonable
person could have expected.

Had Lincoln lived there
would have been much less
individual suffering. The poor
North would have fared better
& the reconstruction of the
country would have been
much sooner accomplished. But
the ultimate national results
will prove the same. The present
Constitutional amendment, the
one now under consideration, will be adopted, & soon or later negro suffrage will come.
Here I differ with some good
people. The question of negro
suffrage is attended with some difficulties & perplexities, constitutional & otherwise, & I should not
make its adoption a sine qua non
of the Republican party. As a
party the Abolitionists no longer
exist. For all practical purposes

they are merged, as they should
be with the great mass of their
fellow citizens. I have been
very sorry that Wendell Phillips has pursued the course he
has, but it is purely on his own
account, & perhaps I must confess
that all my regrets do not
spring from the highest motives.
I will confess that when I
saw the time arrive when he
might naturally & properly enter on a course of political censor, such
as his talents & positive moral
natural, I was sorry to see him
throw away all his prospects, upon
an entire want of clearness of
judgment & an inability to
understand the situation.

Perhaps it was as much as a
could be expected that one man, even Garrison, could form quite equal to the occasion.

I don't believe in any interference
ment of the President in any
thing of that sort. Probably Mr. Blair will be along for the next 2 years, & then Gen Grant step into the presidency.

I am a good deal shocked
at finding such a party here
in favour of Gov Eyre. It does certainly seem as if this aggravated war was to be a perfect test, separating trying both nations & individuals. I do not of course with Eyre ranged, tho' speaking popular, he deserves it, but I do
think he should be tried for Gordon's murder.

Were the Soc. Sci. Science meeting interesting, & of what subject most so? Pray write to me
if you have permits - at least tell me how you do. Direct for

As for myself, I am never
very strong, & the state of my eyes & the illness it enforced, was a trial on my general health. One of my
brothers has been some thing
of an invalid this summer
too, & that had fatigued
me, but he is now better
? I left all at Weymouth
in a very flourishing state Cardine much absorbed in gardening & Dorcas attending to her parsonial duties, for
as she is the only one who has
remained constantly at home
all the thousand state duties of a country neighborhood devolve upon her. Visits,

Aunties, takes, road mending
sewing meetings, Free Meli
Aid Societies, all are in her
hands & keep her very busy.

Mrs Chapman divides her time between New York & Boston (her son's summer residence Weymouth & Chauncy Street.
I think she will be at the
latter place a good deal
this winter as her sister in law is very lonely in the old ancestral house without her.

My brother Warren has been travelling in Europe all summer
with his daughter Rosamond
who is now a nice girl of 18 & a great comfort to us.
She was in a state of